

Sellers

Contributed by Angus Woodbury
Monday, 09 August 2004
Last Updated Monday, 23 October 2006

What I do for you

Honesty

I would rather disappoint you now than let you down later. I'll give you the scoop when we meet the first time, and if the market changes I won't sugar coat it. Your time is important to me and I know what it's like to have strangers in your home all of the time. You'll get the experience of an agent who has been around for many different types of real estate markets. I'm approachable and easy to get ahold of. We share a common goal and that will drive our relationship.

Confidentiality

I'm your agent. I don't share anything that you don't want me to. It's the groundwork for the team effort that we put together to get your home sold.

Integrity

What does that mean for you? Since 1989 I have treated other agents the right way. That means that other agents will often put in that extra effort to visit your home. I don't let my ego get in the way of your success. We're going to lay the groundwork in the beginning of our relationship so that you know exactly what you can expect from me.

Marketing

I'm not going to put you through some broker inspired ad mill. I'm going to proactively take your property to the market and get you exposure. Leveraging to days technology in the way that only a cutting edge and dedicated agent can.